LICENCE PLATES READY TO GO AT CITY HALL

Elton Swanson of the licence department at Kelowna city hall, displays the licence plates which are due now for renewal. Bicycle licence plates purchased in 1964 must be exchanged for 1965 plates, Douglas Johnson, licence inspector said today. These may be obtained now at city hall. "Every bicycle operated on streets within the city of Kelowna must have licence plates," the city by-law states. RCMP said any bike to which was licensed in 1964 does not require an inspection this year. "Owners may go directly to city hall and pick up the 1965 plates," police said. "If the bicycle is being licensed for the first time, it must be brought to the RCMP for an inspection, before going to city hall for plates."

LONDON (Reuters) — The government announced today the creation of a special Commonwealth exports council as part of a plan to boost Britain's exports.

Canada Calls Upon UN To Act In Way Founder Churchill Set

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Canada called on the United Nations today to honor the memory of Sir Winston Churchill by "carrying on the work which he so ably began."

Dr. Stanley Haskins, Liberal member of Parliament for Toronto Parkdale, and a member of the Canadian UN delegation, led off a series of tributes at a special meeting of the General Assembly, called to honor Churchill.

He said Churchill had produced his most monumental achievements at a time "when our world was shaken by despair and paralyzed by fear."

"Let those who now are discouraged by the problems facing us here in the United Nations remember how the courage, insight and determination of Sir Winston Churchill prevailed over the much greater difficulties he then faced."

Haskins said Churchill's achievements defied enumeration but affected a whole world. "All men who today enjoy liberty and all those who will rejoice in freedom in the future will always be indebted to him," he said.

"His inspiring leadership in two world wars, his defiance of fascist aggression, his conviction that only in peace, prosperity and liberty can the full potential of mankind be realized, being us together this day to honor his memory."

A spokesman of the Communist, African, Asian and Western groups joined in unqualified praise of the late prime minister.

The Yugoslav delegate said the world has lost "one of its truly great statesmen."

New Burning-Suicide Protest As India Changes Languages

MADRAS (Reuters) — An Indian burned himself to death here today—the second in two days—as violent protests continued in Madras state against the adoption of Hindi as India's official language in place of English.

At Chidambaram, 125 miles from Madras, a student was killed and another wounded when police opened fire on a crowd of students protesting against arrests in Tuesday's clashes.

Police sources said a 32-year-old man burned himself to death in the Madras suburb of Virugambakkam today. The man shouted anti-Hindi slogans then poured kerosene over his body and lit it.

A 22-year-old man soaked himself in gasoline and died in Kodambakkam, another Madras suburb, Tuesday as violent protests were staged in the city against the adoption of Hindi.

New Suspect Held In Dual Murder

NEW YORK (AP)—A new suspect was charged today with the sensational double murder of two Manhattan career girls after a prolonged investigation which previously had implicated another man.

Richard (Rich) Robles, 22, a short, skinny dope addict, was held without bail in the killing of Janice Wylie and Emily Hofert in their fashionable east side apartment 17 months ago. Clues gleaned from other narcotics cases were said to have figured in his arrest.

Favreau Ordered "Lay Off Case" Witness Claims

MONTREAL (CP)—Raymond Rouleau testified today that his brother, Liberal MP Guy Favreau, told him that Justice Minister Favreau had given instructions to lay off the Rivard case because it was "too hot."

He also told the Dorion inquiry that he is afraid of narcotics conspiracy suspect Lucien Rivard and "his gang."

The Dorion inquiry is investigating allegations of attempted bribery and influence-peddling by federal ministers and aides aimed at getting Rivard released from Bordeaux Jail on bail.

Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay, was scheduled to testify later today for the first time.

Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne, acting for the U.S. government in Rivard's extradition hearings here, has testified that Denis offered him $20,000 to drop opposition to bail for Rivard.

Raymond Rouleau, 38-year-old insurance adjuster, said he was told by his brother: "Don't touch that (the Rivard case). It's too dangerous."

Three Accused Of Capital Murder In Gangland Slaying Of Doorman

Mr. Rouleau, in the witness box for 2½ hours, said he knew Robert Collin and Maurice Poirier and had met Robert Poirier once.

These three are accused of capital murder in the Sept. 11 gangland slaying here of night club doorman Rocky Brunette.

Mr. Rouleau said that about two weeks after he had asked his brother to look into the Rivard affair, Guy had advised him that Mr. Favreau had given instructions to drop the matter.

Ross Drouin, Conservative party counsel, read from an RCMP report of an interview with Raymond Rouleau which said Mr. Rouleau had told the police that Guy had informed him that he had been advised by Mr. Favreau to forget about the Rivard case because it was "too hot."

Mr. Rouleau said this RCMP account was correct.

Mr. Rouleau, president of the Millie's school board, said he had told his brother he was tired of Favreau's and that Rivard's would help him in municipal elections.

Canadian And Greek Officers Handed Blame In Ship Collision

QUEBEC (CP)—Officers and pilots of both the Canadian ore carrier Lecliff Hall and the Greek freighter Apollonia have been found at fault by a federal transport department inquiry into a collision on the St. Lawrence River 65 miles northeast of here last Sept. 5.

Mr. Justice Arthur J. Smith in a judgment rendered today said he was led to the "inescapable conclusion" that the Lecliff Hall was too far south in the channel when the ships met in fog cast of the aux Coudres. He also said both ships were travelling at excessive speeds considering conditions and neither had made effective use of navigational aids.

Birchers Rapped By Ministers

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Chicago-area ministerial associations have charged that the John Birch Society's plans to expand operations in the area would have a divisive influence and "unnecessarily create tension."

The groups are the Home-Wood-Florence Ministerial Association which represents nine south suburban areas, and the Brookline Ministerial Association in the exclusive north shore suburb of Glenview. Together the associations have 35 members.

Regional College Pact Drawn Up By Valley Group

SLIDING CHILDREN A RISK SAY RCMP

RCMP today issued a warning to parents of children sliding on the path of cars.

"We have received several complaints of children sliding near highways. Parents are asked to caution their children of the dangers involved."

Gordon Smith, parks and recreation commissioner, said several children have been sliding in city park from the hillside near the bridge approach.

"In itself this is not harmful but these children are stepping onto the roadway nearby. Motorists approaching from the bridge are not expecting children to appear on the roadway in this area."

"Before any serious accident occurs, parents are asked to check their children's sliding areas," police said.

Report Of Professor Awaited Before Site Location Decided

OLIVER—The Okanagan Regional College committee has prepared a prospective agreement for the establishment and broad financing of a regional college to be located in the Okanagan Valley.

The agreement was prepared Tuesday by a sub-committee comprised of secretary-treasurers from school districts, and given further consideration by the regional college committee at an evening meeting at Kelowna.

The 10 school boards will now be asked to indicate their approval of the agreement at the earliest possible date, but will not formally sign the agreement until a plebiscite has been held in all districts.

It is expected such a plebiscite may be held within two or three months. Professor F. T. Giles, retained by the committee to recommend a site for the college, is now preparing his report. Representatives from each school district have previously agreed to abide by his findings.

Committee chairman Frank Venetues told committee members he had met recently with deputy minister of education Dr. J. F. K. English in Victoria and that Dr. English had suggested the committee might consider starting the college in temporary quarters until such time as permanent buildings are available. Mr. Venetues said Dr. English had shown strong interest in the college and in the progress of the committee.

Mr. Venetues also reported on his attendance at the West Kootenay College Council seminar in Nelson January 16, and felt that the progress of the West Kootenay group would be of considerable help to the development of a regional college. The committee agreed that a program for information of the public should be prepared, and appointed Don Samerville of Oliver as public relations representative.

Tariff Cuts For Debate

GENEVA (Reuters)—A Canada-United States plan to slash automobile tariffs at the manufacturers' level will be discussed by members of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade at their March 2 session, a spokesman said today.

But the spokesman of the 60-country GATT emphasized there was no formal protest by any member-country about the proposed duty elimination on vehicles and original assembly.

QUEBEC (CP)—Officers and pilots of both the Canadian ore carrier Lecliff Hall and the Greek freighter Apollonia have been found at fault by a federal transport department inquiry into a collision on the St. Lawrence River 65 miles northeast of here last Sept. 5.

Mr. Justice Arthur J. He also said both ships were travelling at excessive speeds considering conditions and neither had made effective use of navigational aids.

Mr. Justice Smith ordered the suspension of the certificate of Captain Walter Bowen, 64, of Owen Sound, Ont., for six months dating from Sept. 5, 1964.

Capt. Bowen's ship, the Lecliff Hall, sank four hours after the collision during efforts to beach it, with a loss of four lives.

Mr. Justice Smith found no fault with efforts to beach the ship nor anything "which could justify the attachment of any blame for loss of life" to Capt. Bowen or any others involved.

Because the Apollonia is registered in Greece and Captain Ioannis Andreou, 51, of Athens, and the other officers of the vessel do not hold Canadian certificates "these cannot be dealt with by this commission."

The licences of both pilots involved were ordered suspended for five months retroactive to Sept. 5. The pilots were Yves Pouliot, 38, of the Apollonia and his uncle J. E. Pouliot, 64, of the Lecliff Hall.

SOUTH VIET NAM IN ANOTHER TURMOIL

Buddhists Behind Khanh's Comeback Coup

SAIGON (AP) — South Viet Nam's generals returned Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh to power in a bloodless military coup today, and the Buddhist opposition to the civilian government began jubilant celebrations.

Khanh charged Premier Tran Van Huong's three-month-old government had failed to stabilize the chaotic situation in the country's major cities. He said the chaos was impeding the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

The coup posed new problems for the United States, which had hoped civilian government could rally the populace behind the war effort.

The U.S. embassy said in a statement: "Until we can assess more clearly the nature and extent of the important events set in motion this morning, it would be premature for the U.S. mission to comment or render a judgment."

Reliable sources said Khanh and the military council he off today because U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor was on a trip to Laos and Thailand. Taylor left Bangkok hurriedly to return to Saigon.

Five leading Buddhist monks who had been making a "fast to the death" to bring down Premier Huong officially began eating late this afternoon.

An estimated 4,000 supporters flocked into the Buddhist headquarters, which previously had been barred to them by paratroopers, and dragged the beds the monks had been resting on into the streets.

BROADCAST APPEAL

The Buddhist hierarchy broadcast an appeal "to all chapters throughout the country" to cease the anti-government campaign.

Authorities prepared for trouble as reports circulated that Buddhist mobs would sack newspapers which opposed the Buddhist campaign against Huong.

Police had orders to use tear gas to disperse them. Khanh and Taylor became bitter antagonists following the partial coup last Dec. 20, when Khanh and a group of young generals dissolved the High National Council—the provisional legislature.

The coup took place without any violence. Huong and his cabinet were free and apparently under no duress. No arrests were reported and there was no unusual military activity in the capital.

It was the seventh major government upheaval since the assassination of President Ngo Dinh Diem Nov. 1, 1963.

Huong, 60, a former school-teacher and mayor of Saigon, took office when enormous demonstrations and rioting last October forced Huong to yield power to a civilian government. Khanh, who has seized power last Jan. 30, remained chief of the armed forces.

Although Huong is a Buddhist, he angered the Buddhist hierarchy by naming a cabinet without consulting it and telling it to stick to religion.

Loffmark Sees Some Clouds On B.C.'s Economic Horizon

VICTORIA (CP) — Industry Minister Ralph Loffmark said Tuesday there are clouds on British Columbia's economic horizon and blamed them on the federal government and other provinces.

Speaking during the legislative session, Loffmark said the federal government's "free trade" policy was dragging its feet regarding a national health plan.

The wire, read by Attorney-General Robert Bennett, had been sent to Prime Minister Pearson Dec. 2, seeking implementation of a national health plan in time to have B.C.'s share included in the province's 1965-66 budget.

He said freight rates on goods shipped out of B.C. are often two or three times those for goods shipped into the province.

He criticized what he termed "internal restrictions on trade" and inducements made by some provinces to attract industry, including tax holidays and accelerated depreciation.

Elsewhere in his speech he said an announcement could be expected shortly regarding three coal deposits "which compare favorably with the largest deposits in the world."

SASKATOON (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker threatened Tuesday night to unveil charges that American money helped Liberal political campaigns in 1962 and 1963.

Mr. Diefenbaker said at a Progressive Conservative reception on his way to Ottawa: "An American organizer in Canada under an assumed name had told the Liberals how to attack me."

"I kept silent because I did not want to bring about disunity. The Liberal press started these scurrilous attacks against me. I've never told the story of the 1963 election but that is going to be told soon."

He would not elaborate further but referred to "ministers who left his cabinet because their ambition was greater than their loyalty."

Douglas Harkness, George Hees, and Pierre Sevigny resigned from Mr. Diefenbaker's cabinet over differences in opinion on the question of nuclear arms for Canadian forces. The walkout precipitated the 1963 election.

Churchill's Catafalque Goes on View in London

LONDON (CP) — On a 10-foot-high, black-draped catafalque, Sir Winston Churchill's coffin went on public view today while thousands filed silently by, to pay tribute to the man who led them through the darkness of war.

Prime Minister Wilson, his wife and members of the Labor government led the procession of sorrowing Britons into Westminster Hall.

Police anticipated more than 70,000 persons might file by during the three days in which Sir Winston will lie in state. Officers of famed guards regiments kept constant vigil, one at each corner of the silver-trimmed catafalque and one at the foot. They changed watch every 20 minutes.

Four candles at each corner of the catafalque flickered against the hall's grey walls. Churchill's body was brought to the hall Tuesday night from his home at 28 Hyde Park Gate, where he died Sunday 19 days after a stroke at the age of 90.

CALM IN GRIEF

Lady Churchill, 79, heavily veiled but calm in her grief, rode with her son, Randolph, and other members of the family in eight limousines behind the hearse.

Inside the hall the family spent 15 minutes in prayer with the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey.

The coffin will be there under the Union Jack until the state funeral Saturday in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Despite the cold east wind of the Thames, some mourners bled down all night in sleeping bags on the sidewalk outside the houses of Parliament, of which Westminster Hall is part.

William Turner, 59, former sergeant major in the Middlesex Regiment, stood through the night in the line.

"I came because I had to," he said. "If it hadn't been for Sir Winston during the war I am sure this country would never have pulled through."

Five Sovereigns have announced they will attend Churchill's funeral — Queen Elizabeth who will attend with Prince Philip and other members of the British Royal Family, King Baudouin of the Belgians, King Olav of Norway, King Frederick of Denmark and King Constantine of Greece.

WILL SEND HUSBAND

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands will be represented by her husband, Prince Bernhard.

President Charles de Gaulle planned to fly from Paris Friday night for the funeral.

Prime Minister Lester Pearson was leaving Ottawa today for the rites.

President Johnson, recovering from a heavy cold and sore throat, waited for another medical checkup before deciding whether to attend.

Former president Eisenhower also will attend. After the funeral service he will broadcast a television commentary for the BBC from the cathedral. The BBC said he would speak "as a close friend and wartime colleague of Sir Winston."

The leading Russian representative will be Konstantin Rudnev, a deputy premier. With him will be Marshal Ivan Konev, the first Russian army leader to make contact with the Americans in Germany in 1945, and Alexander Soldatov, Soviet ambassador in London.

Churchill will be buried with his forebears at Bladon, in a tiny Oxfordshire country churchyard within sight of Blenheim, the great house in which he was born. Only family mourners will attend.

Fruit Growing Chamber Topic At First Meeting

The first general meeting in 1965 of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce will be held Feb. 16 at the Capri Motor Inn.

The theme will be "agriculture—fruit growing." John Foote, president, told the chamber executive meeting Tuesday.

PANEL

"The meeting will take the form of a panel discussion," he said. "Taking part will be R. P. Walrod, manager of B.C. Tree Fruits and Leo Lowe of Wenatchee, giving the marketing picture. Mr. Lowe is secretary, Washington Growers' Clearing House association.

"Wholesale problems will be presented by two other panel members, Paul Souther, general merchandising manager for Consolidated Fruit Company, Calgary, and J. P. Lang, general sales manager and secretary for Pacific Coast Fruit Growers Ltd., fruit wholesalers in Seattle.

This meeting should interest Kelowna businessmen and fruit growers both, Mr. Foote said. "We are anticipating a tremendous attendance."

"Plans are underway, but no confirmation has been received," he said. "I am planning to bring Dean E. D. MacPhee to the meeting to summarize the panel discussion and comment."

"Six years have gone by since Dean MacPhee submitted his report of the Royal Commission on the Tree Fruit Industry in B.C. in 1959. It would be very interesting to have him return."

"Each panelist will speak 10 to 15 minutes," Mr. Foote said.

OTHERS HERE

"The directors of B.C. Fruit Growers association are meeting the same day, and we will invite them to attend this general meeting. The officials of Fruit-Ripe Products Ltd. will also be asked to attend," he said.

The second general meeting, March 8, will have Dr. William Steward, principal of Wenatchee junior college as guest speaker. Dr. Giles submits his report on the location of a junior college in the Okanagan on March 1. Dr. Steward's talk will be timely," said Mr. Foote.

Open Liquor Outlets Election Day Chamber Of Commerce Project

The Kelowna Chamber of Commerce decided at an executive meeting Tuesday to press for legislation to permit liquor outlets to remain open during municipal elections.

A decision was also made to write the provincial member, Hon. W. A. C. Bennett, requesting a self-service liquor store for Kelowna.

J. T. F. Horn, chairman of the public affairs committee, was asked at a previous meeting to look into the regulations governing the closing and to make suggestions.

ALTERNATIVE

The authority for closing licensed premises on election day comes from two sources. Mr. Horn said "The Statutes of Canada (federal) and the Government Liquor Act (provincial) both forbid the sale. Municipal elections are governed by the Liquor Act."

"If we are to request changes in the federal legislation, we should apply through our member to change the statutes, or apply through the Canadian chamber of commerce."

"For any change in the provincial legislation we should get the views of the Liquor Control Board, and then apply through the MLA," Mr. Horn said.

R. P. McLennan suggested the chamber present the suggestion to the chambers provincial office to go forward to the Canadian chamber as their resolution.

C. W. "Bill" Gaddes said the Union of B.C. Municipalities already had such a resolution, and perhaps the chamber should support this one.

MOORE FAVOR

T. L. Moore said the hotel association is also in favor of changing the regulations.

R. L. Sharp, past president, suggested the officers of the provincial and Canadian chambers of commerce be contacted to see what, if any, action may have been taken on this issue in the past.

Pat Moss moved the public affairs committee be asked to prepare a resolution asking for the rescinding of the Government Liquor Act regarding the closing of liquor outlets on election days. It was unanimously passed.

LIQUOR BOARD

Jim Donald, secretary-manager, read a letter from the Liquor Control Board in answer to the chambers request for a self-service liquor store in Kelowna.

It reads in part "Your letter graciously acknowledged. The board wishes to advise you they are constantly reviewing the needs of all areas in the province and the board hastens to assure you the city of Kelowna has not been overlooked in this matter."

The secretary was instructed by the meeting to contact the member for this riding, W. A. C. Bennett, and forward the chamber's request to him.

Two Car Head On Collision Sends Two To City Hospital

RCMP said a two-car head-on collision on Highway No. 97 near Duck Lake at 4:45 p.m. Tuesday, sent two people to hospital and resulted in damage estimated at $1,500.

The driver of one car, David James Winfield of Winfield, was taken to the Kelowna General Hospital by ambulance. The second driver involved was Leonard Edward Cook of Enderby. Police said he was charged with passing when unsafe to do so. Hospital authorities said today the two men spent a "fairly good night."

No injuries were reported to police from two motor vehicle accidents in the area Tuesday and no charges are contemplated at either, police said.

Damage is estimated at $200 from a two-car rear-end collision at Park Ave. and Pandosy St. at 12:45 p.m. Police said drivers were Raymond Matlen, 515 Francis Ave. and Kenneth Bruce Fleck, 519 Mc Kay Ave.

RCMP said a car driven by Ruth Marion Lest of Rutland went out of control at Benvenuto and Casorso roads at 10 a.m. The car went through a fence into a field. Damage is estimated at under $100.

District Schools Remember Churchill

Schools in Kelowna and district will hold memorial ceremonies Friday in memory of Sir Winston Churchill.

"All schools in School District No. 23 will open at the regular time Friday morning," F. J. Orme, superintendent, said today.

"They will close for the day at noon. Each school will conduct its own memorial service during Friday morning."

Bicycle, Municipal Plates Ready For Distribution Now have arrived at city hall and are ready for distribution, Douglas Johnson, licence inspector, said today.

"Municipal licence plates have also arrived," he said. "Any vehicle licensed under the commercial transport act, or under the motor vehicle act and used for collection or delivery of goods, wares or merchandise, must have a municipal plate or an exempt plate."

"An exempt plate is issued to vehicles which are used for private transportation rather than commercial use. Deadline for municipal plates is the same as for provincial licences. After March 1 a fine may be imposed

The 1965 bicycle licence plates for vehicles without them. "Vehicles included in this municipal category are pick-up trucks, light delivery and logging trucks, as well as any truck used in a business."

"Bicycle licences must be displayed on any bicycle operated within the city of Kelowna. The 1964 plates are now outdated and must be exchanged for the 1965 ones," he said.

Bicycle licence plates first became obligatory in January, 1964, with the first plate issued January 27. The total number of licence plates issued in 1964 was approximately 3,100. To date 65 of the 1965 plates have been issued.

CHAMBER BRIEFS

J. G. S. Hirtle, chairman of the Roads and Transportation committee, recommended to an executive meeting Tuesday, the Kelowna chamber of commerce should press for upgrading of existing arterial highways instead of new routes. "I suggest two moves," he said. "Get the co-operation of all chambers in the areas concerned, then pursue a strong program of recommendation and submission at the ministerial level." Roads he suggested working on are the Sicamous to Enderby stretch and the Hope-Princeton. He was asked to make further study and report again on steps to be taken.

Four district firms were accepted for membership in the chamber, Tuesday. These are Suan Stores Ltd., represented by Norman Draper and Robert Cotton; Mid-Valley Realty, A. K. M. Patterson and Mrs. E. M. Beaudre; Kelowna Billiards, Kenneth Smith; and Pioneer Meat Packers, Henry Lorenz and Fred Grossman.

Ald. E. R. Winter reporting on the proposed administration building for the Kelowna airport, said the Winfield-Oyama chamber of commerce have wired their approval of the building to J. W. Pickersgill, Transport Minister. Other approvals wired are from the Kelowna and Westbank chambers.

A letter was read from SODICA, Enderby, asking for support in their request to have larger milk quotas for the B.C. Milk Board for the Kamloops-Okanagan dairy industry. The meeting asked L. R. Stephens and W. T. J. Bulman to look into the matter.

A letter of congratulation is to be sent Premier W. A. C. Bennett on Feb. 15 will have been in office longer than any other B.C. premier.

President John Foote, said plans are underway to hold a tourist clinic in Kelowna March 31 to April 7, similar to the one held last year. At that time

MUSICALLY SPEAKING

With BETHEL STEELE

Winston Churchill, the mighty warrior, is gone but the memory of him will live forever. To those of us of the generation of the Battle of Britain the man Churchill stands for something wonderful and precious.

To me, as a musician, Churchill's "V" for Victory sign, represents the opening bars of Beethoven's great C Minor Symphony. This theme became the second world war musical signifier of all the English speaking peoples and those others for whom England fought to keep free.

Those of us living on the Canadian prairies at the time own a special part of the Battle of Britain for it was there that the great Commonwealth Air Training plan was implemented because of the endless hours of sunshine, summer and winter alike.

To us came young lads from Canada, England, Australia, New Zealand, the United States and all the other freedom fighter countries to learn to fly and to bomb. This was the flower of our generation. And it was Churchill who inspired these boys to give their all.

Even our own nephew the world famous "Lark" came to us from the U.S. and, joining the Canadian Air Force, received his basic training in time to become the youngest colonel in the American Air Force at the time of his death in the Pacific.

Time after time the young fliers were sparked by Churchill's voice and the famous fate theme; for Beethoven's 5th will be forever fate music because Beethoven himself said "This fate knocks at the door." And time without end we said goodbye to group after group as they received their wings knowing that there was little hope—or no return for most of them.

And so we look back on lonely night vigils beside the radio, waiting for the voice of courage and faith as it gave the progress of the Battle of Britain. And well do we remember the Churchillian announcement that the battle had been won and that "Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few."

It has been said that Churchill "rallied a civilization." There is no doubt in this respect.

Sellout Hinted For N.Y. Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—The first big fight in town since Cassius Clay and Doug Jones sold out Madison Square Garden in 1963 has the Broadway crowd talking about Floyd Patterson and George Chuvalo.

Chances are the former heavyweight champion and the Canadian will pack the Garden Monday night but this is hush-hush. Garden brass is afraid any talk of a sellout will scare away a few dollars. There will be closed circuit television, but none in New York.

Patterson, a man with enough money to last him a lifetime, wants to shut Cassius Clay's mouth and beat Sonny Liston. Although both jobs are formidable, Floyd at 30 persists in thinking he can accomplish both missions and then retire to an upstate farm. He regards Chuvalo as another step up the ladder, the toughest on this comeback.

Jimmy August, a veteran trainer of fighters, thinks Floyd has too much for Chuvalo. As August worked the corner opposite the Toronto slugger in both a winning and losing cause, he may be considered somewhat of an authority.

City Legion Installation Last Night

The biggest problem continuing to face the Royal Canadian Legion is membership. Tom Middleton, North Okanagan zone commander from Salmon Arm, told the annual officer installation meeting of the Kelowna branch Tuesday.

"Continuous and increased membership is vitally important if the Canadian Legion is to survive," he said. "Last year was fairly successful with 3,901 members in the zone, an increase of 282, but we must remain active in membership campaigns."

Mrs. Griess Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Caroline Griess, 1989 St. Paul St., Kelowna, died at Kelowna General Hospital Tuesday after a short illness.

Born in England in 1876 Mrs. Griess came to Canada with her husband, the late Philip Griess shortly after the First World War. They lived in Okanagan Centre before coming to Kelowna.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Berger and Miss Lewin, both of the Isle of Wight. Clarke and Dixon have been entrusted with the arrangements.

Annual Meeting For Rutland C of C

RUTLAND—The annual meeting of the Rutland Chamber of Commerce will be held Friday at 8 p.m. at Belair hall.

During the meeting the nominating committee will bring in a slate of officers, chairmen of committees will report on their last year's efforts, and a date will be set for the installation of the 1965 officers.

Len Paddock, who succeeded to the presidency in 1963 on the death of Bert Hill, is expected to run again for the post.

RE-ELECTED

Harold Whitehouse, Legion, and Mrs. Betty Anderson, Ladies' auxiliary, were re-elected for their second terms as presidents of their organizations.

Mrs. Cowan also presented Mrs. Mary Bradley, Mrs. Harold Bourke, Mrs. C. J. Gurr and Mrs. R. D. Knox with lifetime memberships to the Legion.

Mrs. Anderson presented a cheque for $700 to Mr. Whitehouse with a recommendation for new heating units and drapes for the Legion Hall.

A brief silence was observed at the beginning of the meeting in memory of Sir Winston Churchill and Kelowna Legion members who died during 1964.

MAGISTRATE REVIEWS YEAR IN CITY COURT

Kelowna Area Crime on Upsurge

Magistrate D. M. White in his annual report to city council said court cases in Kelowna are "increasing, tremendously."

"There is a 100 per cent increase in impaired driving, 400 per cent in speeding, and increases in all traffic offences," the magistrate said.

"There appears from these figures and from the traffic bylaw infractions, a careless attitude in our driving public."

NO COURTESY

"They have apparently lost all trace of courtesy, rights and privileges of others, and above all a lack of respect for the law."

"I am concerned about this, because I feel we have a very competent staff of policemen. They are doing a very good job of policing this area. I congratulate them on the fine standards they are maintaining," he said.

The number of juvenile cases handled in 1964 totalled 374 compared to 199 in 1963. Adult city court cases numbered 7,633 with fines and costs of $65,295. In 1963 comparative figures show 4,551 cases and $44,392 in fines.

District cases totalled 661 with fines of $24,968 compared to 604 cases and $24,070 the previous year.

This brought the total number of cases handled, and total fines and costs collected, to 8,668 cases and $85,149.

In 1963, cases totalled 5,354 and fines $72,663.

Of the 374 juvenile cases handled, 278 were city and 96 in the district.

A breakdown of the 278 with last year's figures in brackets shows 49 (2) were charged with theft; 39 (34) with breaking and entering; 35 (0) with theft of automobiles and 27 (8) with speeding.

JUVENILES

Of the 96 juvenile district cases the largest groups were forgery, including fraud and false pretences, 14 (0), speeding 12 (10) and minor in possession of liquor 10 (15). Those driving without a licence showed a decrease from 18 to 8.

A breakdown of the 7,633 city cases, including fraud, and court, shows city bylaw offenders made up the largest group, 24 from 18 last year.

Traffic Victim Fund Plays Important Role

B.C.'s Traffic Victims Indemnity Fund has passed the $1.5 million mark in payments to innocent victims of hit-and-run drivers, drivers of stolen cars, unlicensed drivers and other financially irresponsible motorists.

A total of $1,511,565 has been paid to 707 British Columbians since the insurance industry established the fund June 1, 1961.

Fund director K. F. V. Malthouse said that 62 of the cases involved hit-and-run drivers, 424 claims were for bodily injury cases including injury caused by drivers of stolen vehicles, and 130 for property damage. Pedestrians accounted for 91 of the claims.

Although TVIF functions under B.C. legislation, it is not a government fund. It is operated and financed by the insurance industry to give British Columbians financial protection in situations where insurance does not apply. Victims of hit-and-run drivers or drivers of stolen vehicles, for example, would be without recourse but for the fund.

TVIF pays claims up to $35,000 for each applicable accident, the same amount as present minimum limits of B.C.'s "pink slip" insurance.

Claims paid to victims amount to approximately 70 cents per year per licensed driver in B.C.

Malthouse said that TVIF handles claims in the same manner as an insurance company. Less than three per cent of the claims paid so far have required reference to the courts for adjudication on liability. However, a claimant does have the right to appeal to the court for a decision if terms of the settlement are disputed.

"TVIF has much greater flexibility than the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund it replaced," said Malthouse. "Claims can be handled speedily and with a minimum of red tape."

The fund is not designed to replace normal auto insurance, particularly collision coverage.

If a financially irresponsible motorist inflicts property damage to a car the first call is upon the victim's own collision insurance. If the victim has no collision coverage, the fund will pay property damage claims, but with a $200 deductible.

In hit and run cases, the fund pays bodily injury claims, but it does not pay property damage claims caused by hit-and-run drivers.

When an offending driver is responsible for TVIF paying a claim, his driver's licence is suspended until he makes arrangements to repay the fund.

Referring to accidents caused by uninsured motorists, Malthouse said that stringent financial responsibility laws and excellent enforcement of these laws in B.C. has kept the incidence of uninsured involvement down to less than 3.5 per cent of all motor vehicle accidents in the province.

"According to figures available from the Motor Vehicles Branch, the number of drivers involved in accidents who do not have insurance coverage has been declining each year," he said.

"In 1961 they numbered 4.02 per cent of the total, the following year it was down to 3.8 per cent and in 1963 (latest figures available) the incidence was just 3.48 per cent."

This probably gives B.C. one of the best records in the country. In Alberta, for example, the involvement of uninsured motorists in 1963 amounted to 12.83 per cent of all accidents. In Manitoba it was 5.3 per cent.

Path of Danger

Mr. Robert Thompson, federal Social Credit leader, is fearful that Canada some day may slip into the clutches of Socialism. Yet he advocates an alignment of political parties which could have no other effect than to make that dread happening more swift and certain.

He has put forward the view that, instead of several parties, Canada should have just two, one of the left and one of the right, to represent two clear-cut alternative choices for the Canadian electorate. It could only mean that, if and when the electors became disenchanted with the rightist, free-enterprise party which he favors, they would have no other recourse than to replace it with the leftist, Socialist party. And that, in our opinion, would be disastrous for our country.

A country can be unregimented and free, or it can be Socialist. It cannot be both, either at the same time or for intermittent periods. Once the clamps of Socialist bureaucracy have been applied to a nation they cannot be dislodged simply at the drop of an election.

The two-party system certainly works best. It worked well in Britain for generations and it still works well in the United States. It worked well in Canada until splinter groups started appearing all over the map. Now Canada's political system is ailing and it is due to the multiplicity of parties as much as to anything else. That is what causes weak minority governments to be elected. It is what makes the formulation of vigorous national policies difficult and, at times, impossible.

Canada needs two clearly identifiable parties, as Mr. Thompson suggests, but they should both be non-Socialist. A Liberal party traditionally near centre and a Conservative party traditionally fairly well to the right of centre, this is what we once had and what we need in this country again. As things have been recently, it is difficult to distinguish between the political ideologies and the location on the political spectrum of both parties, about the only difference being that each claims it can do the same things better and each jockeys for somewhat the same place a little to the leftward of centre.

Mr. Thompson's ideas seem to indicate he would like to see something like a more traditional type of Conservative party return to the field and, in this, he probably shares the feelings of many other Canadians. Canadians certainly deserve a better choice than they now have, but by no means do they deserve ever to be confronted with no other choice for a change than a Socialist regime.—Calgary Herald.

HAMLET—ACT 5: SCENE 1

Flamboyant Mr. K. Has Gone But Soviet Policies Same

MOSCOW (CP) — Three months after the overthrow of Nikita Khrushchev, the chief discernible change in Soviet politics is the absence of a flamboyant personality at the top.

The Communist party first secretary, Leonid Brezhnev, and Premier Alexei Kosygin have been as reticent and inconspicuous as Khrushchev was colorful and outspoken.

The change squares with the new leadership's oft-repeated charge that the former premier and first secretary was more of a showman—a "cult of personality" type—than a true statesman and leader.

But this does not mean that they have abandoned Khrushchev's policies.

On the domestic front the drive to increase and improve consumer goods production goes on unabated.

An editorial in the party newspaper Pravda illustrates the depth of the government's commitment to this policy which the ousted leader also championed.

SEEN QUALITY

"Sharp improvement in the quality and assortment of consumer goods is the most important task facing all the enterprises turning out articles for the population," it said.

The editorial specifically cited clothes (high-grade "elegant" articles are needed), food and confectionery.

The government has taken a series of steps to ingratiate itself with the population, including an extra day's national holiday to fill out a three-day New Year's weekend and cuts in the price of drugs, watches, cameras and radios.

It has increased the size of lots available for private farming by agricultural workers in a double-barrelled bid to remove a source of discontent and to jolt up agricultural production.

More basically, it has abolished the administrative division of the Soviet economy into agricultural and industrial sectors.

In foreign affairs the new Kremlin hierarchy has repeatedly emphasized its devotion to the cause of peaceful coexistence and friendly relations with the West. At the same time it has shown increasing alarm at Western activities in South Vietnam, the Congo and Malaysia, plus an evident desire to patch up Russia's quarrel with China and restore a semblance of world Communist unity.

RED GLOVE HANDLING

The Soviets consider it "their sacred duty to do everything to strengthen the unity and cohesion of the socialist countries on the basis of Marxism-Leninism and socialist internationalism," the Pravda editorial said.

Aged Cedar Looks on B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—High on a silent plateau overlooking the Nimpkish Valley on Vancouver Island there stands a yellow cedar tree more than 1,800 years old.

It is a healthy tree, this ancient. But rot has hollowed its trunk, but the paper-thin layer of cells between the bark and the wood which transforms cellulose into a living tree is still in excellent shape.

If you came across the yellow cedar in the forest, you would know its age by its size. It measures eight feet wide at its base and stands 130 feet high. Green lichen, white flecked, has rooted itself in the silver brown bark, deeply interlarded with age. At the base of the tree where the trunk joins the roots there are swellings, like arthritic joints.

But it holds its handsome crown on a straight, strong trunk and in the proper season it produces cones.

In the second century after the birth of Christ, a yellow cedar seedling drifted on the wind to the plateau. The Roman Empire was at the height of its glory, with 80,000 miles of super-highways and magnificent, cosmopolitan Rome.

The site was high and poor and wet, and the tree grew steadily but slowly. In the fifth century, when Alaric burst through the gates of Rome to gloat in its streets as conqueror and Attila the Hun sacked Gaul, the yellow cedar was a small, smooth-barked youngster about the thickness of a telephone pole.

By 1666, when Harold fell at the Battle of Hastings, age began to shroud the tree's bark. And by 1815, when Genghis Khan had plundered Asia and burned Peking, the yellow cedar had probably reached its full height.

Today the yellow cedar stands in a climax forest, undisturbed by the natural catastrophes of the woods for at least 1,800 years. Blowdown has not felled its neighbors, old growth hemlock and cedar trees, nor has disease sapped its strength.

Fire has ravaged the Nimpkish at least once every hundred years, leaving the coast's finest fir stands to grow in the blackened ruins. Fire has come within a mile of the yellow cedar, but it has always escaped unscathed.

Isolation has saved the tree from man. Its plateau overlooks an old Indian trail and remains of old dugout canoes can still be seen on Schoen Lake below, but there is no evidence that Indians ever climbed up to the tree, some 2,500 feet above sea level. Foresters found it by accident, with the snow peaks of the Nimpkish framing its crown and blueberries thriving at its roots.

Nobody seems to know why the yellow cedar has lived so long, for nobody knows why a tree dies. And nobody knows much about the yellow cedar, unique to our West Coast, except that it's not really a cedar at all.

The creamy wood of the yellow cedar is extremely durable—and that has probably helped it defy decay. And the aromatic oils which give the wood its pungent perfume may have preserved the fibre.

Eventually, in the natural cycle of the forest, the yellow cedar tree will die. The butt rot which has hollowed its trunk will complete its destruction and the old giant will fall to the forest floor.

In the meantime, it will grow on its mountain plateau as it has for more than 1,800 years. Somehow, that's a comforting thought in these chaotic, critical, times.

OTTAWA REPORT

January Becomes "Dump-Dief" Month

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Daily Courier Ottawa Bureau

January has become "Dump-Dief" month by tradition. Now for the third consecutive year this rite is in full spate.

Tory MP Gordon Aiken, the 44-year-old honors-lawyer from Gravenhurst, Ontario, has recently replaced the Quebec leader, Leon Balcer, as the headliner of the 1965 drive. He made the widely quoted remark at the University of Waterloo that he and "at least three other English-speaking Conservative MPs favor dumping Dief before the next election."

"Aiken's Trio" is the most overcrowded bandwagon ever to roll up Parliament Hill. Its standing—room only through seems to include English-speaking MPs from nine provinces; Newfoundland is all-Liberal.

TORIES SPLIT

One Conservative outside the Commons suggested to me that there are four groups within his party's MPs. There are the outspoken and convinced critics of the leader, who consider him to be the only obstruction between their party and a sweeping victory in the next election. There are the usually critical MPs who are tight-lipped because they consider that a party should be openly loyal to its chosen leader, and would prefer the dumping to be arranged and decisively executed under cover, as has been done previously. Others have lost faith in Dief as leader, but are silenced by their personal loyalty to him. And there is a hard core of those "not to reason why, but their's but to do and die with Dief."

Former Defence Minister Doug Harkness is obviously a charter member of the "Aiken Trio." Leon Balcer, Paul Martin and Remy Paul are self-proclaimed members of it. So are Alberta's Ged Baldwin, New Brunswick's Gordon Fairweather and Ontario's Gordon Aiken. One might expect to find the balance of the 1965 newly-resigned ministers in it. I have not discussed this point with any MP, but probably the thinking men, who look at their party down the vista of history, are in this group: such as Heath Macquarrie (P.E.I.), George Muir and Sig Emu Munro, Tom Bell and Hugh John Flemming (N.B.), Mary Howe, Jean Casseman Woods, Alf Hanes and Heber Smith (Ont.), Dave Pugh (B.C.), James Oramston (Sask.), Frank Fane (Alberta) and many others. To assume names should be asked, I assume, most of the former leaders who are no longer in Parliament, such as Don Fleming, Dave Fulton, George Hees, Jim Macdonnell, Ernie Hardaway, Howard Green, Doug Bell, Raymond O'Harey, Noel Doran, Pierre Sevigny.

THE DUFFENBACKERS

The strong Dief supporters tend to be concentrated in the more rural districts, especially in Saskatchewan. They are typified by Bert Cadieu of Meadow Lake, who says simply: "Dief is masterful as prime minister and masterful as leader of the opposition." This opinion is not shared by the 1,344,186 voters, more than one-third of the total who voted Conservative in 1962, who withdrew their support in subsequent elections.

Polls show that the wastage in Tory support has increased since the 1962 election, but with about two in every five voters "undecided," it is apparent that the Liberal government is not unshaking this swing vote.

No candidates for the succession to the leadership have emerged. But this is not surprising when one recalls that Dief has not only omitted to groom a successor, but now has neither past rivals nor ambitious successors around him.

Don Fleming and Dave Fulton stood for the leadership against him in 1956. George Hees was at one time regarded as the Crown Prince Charming; Dick Bell and Pierre Sevigny have dreamed their private dreams of glory—all have departed from Parliament Hill. No wonder Dr. P. B. Heward made the pregnant and study-worthy reply when asked if he supports Dief: "There isn't anyone else to support."

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Soap And Water Not Only Answer

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a woman of 57 and suffer from body odors over which I have no control.

I bathe once and sometimes twice a day. We are in comfortable circumstances and I have adequate changes of clothing and sufficient dry cleaning. I have used medicated soaps and deodorants of all kinds without success.

The odor is not perspiration but a sort of stale, musky one which permeates all my clothing after a few wearings, even my coats.

Is there a physical reason for this?—E.W.W.

Soap and water is the answer to this problem in most cases, but in someone who takes the pains that you do, and the trouble persists, it is time to look for some of the less obvious answers.

Fresh perspiration from the sweat glands is odorless. But there is another type of gland (called the apocrine) which secretes a milky, odoriferous fluid. Their degree of activity varies quite markedly in some individuals.

There have been cases in which these glands, located chiefly in the armpits, have been removed. It is a relatively simple procedure, but should be discussed with a dermatologist or plastic surgeon.

Naturally taking such action should not be done unless the trouble has been reliably traced to these glands.

Another source of odor is from micro-organisms which flourish on the skin and in the moisture of perspiration. The odor is from these multiplying organisms, not from the perspiration. Where one takes as much trouble as you do with hygiene, this is not a likely cause, however.

Finally, a musty odor can be due to a skin disorder called tinea versicolor, a common and mild infection of the skin. To rule this out for or correct it if it is present, consult a dermatologist. He may even find some other skin condition of which you are unaware.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband tells me I have been reading too much Rachel Carson lately but we have regularly sprayed fruit trees in our garden with pesticides containing malathion. We have two pet chickens that are permitted to roam the garden. They eat bugs, roots and sometimes grass around the trees. Is it possible for the spray to be washed off the trees onto things consumed by the birds, and passed on into the eggs?

If I am being too cautious, I should appreciate knowing if the eggs are piling up and so is my husband's temper.—N.G.S.

Miss Carson called attention to a matter which deserves (and is getting) attention: The question of what long-term effects may result from continued use of new chemicals.

She got listeners by overstating the case. Perhaps she was justified in that sense. But she also frightened a lot of people who thought that "what might happen" is the same as "what is happening." Your chickens are evidently healthy, so eat the eggs. Wash fruit from your trees—but that's routine anyway. Stop worrying about the eggs, and get your husband's temper back to normal.

Dear Dr. Molner: When a man has three dark hair spots in his beard but is otherwise blond, could he have had two fathers? This is an important question for me.—M.F.S.

No, it is physiologically impossible. Once an ovum has been fertilized it rejects any further sperm. True, it can develop twins, but that is a different matter. A seed planted in the ground can sprout only once—even though some plants may have more than one stalk. There's your answer. You can stop worrying now.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does sugar in moderate amounts hurt a person with arthritis?

Seems a person with emphysema stay out in the wind? I hear it is harmful. —MRS. M.N.K.

Moderate sugar won't hurt a person with arthritis. Being out in the wind will not affect a person with emphysema with this exception: The exertion of walking against a strong wind, if it taxes his strength could make him or her feel short of breath.

NOTE TO MRS. R.K.S.: Any one of the ingredients in the mixture you use for your vaporizer for the children would be sufficient. Tincture of benzoin compound is used very commonly and is not expensive.

LETTER TO EDITOR

GROWERS TOLD!

Sir: Now that the growers convention held here in Vernon is over and all the growers have gone home, I am sure that they are well aware that they are facing another year like last year and the year before that and so on.

Dozens of speeches were delivered but they all know and feel that the prospect of more money for their fruit and vegetables is very grim indeed.

Yet they have an example from our government at Ottawa and they have failed to take a cue from it. This I suggest that the growers double all the wages of all their sales personnel such as general managers, managers, assistant managers, the assistant to the assistant general managers, and so on down the line.

For example if a sales manager receives any $30,000 a year and $10,000 for his expenses this brings it to $40,000. I would suggest—that this man—be paid around $75,000 and then in this way you would be sure or at least almost sure that they would not leave the job for other jobs. Just imagine what would happen if one of those men left his job in mid-stream?

Anyway why be so cheap when only about 150,000 boxes (1964 returns) would pay almost all his take home pay.

I still think that the growers have failed by not taking a cue from the government. Anyway here's hoping for the best. A. DE LORNE

ANN LANDERS

Listening To Others Won't Make You Dull

Dear Ann Landers: My parents tell me that when I was a little boy they were worried about me because I didn't say a word until I was almost four years old. They even took me to doctors. The doctors said I would talk when I was ready.

Well, now I am 13 years old and I can't shut up. I talk mostly foolishness which makes me ashamed of myself. Sometimes I don't know what I am going to say until after I have said it. I can make up an opinion without any notice. I even interrupt people who know what they are talking about to say something I just thought up that very second.

Already I have been nicknamed "Gabby." Can you help me? Why do I talk all the time? How can I make myself shut up?

—TALKING MACHINE.
Dear Machine: Most people who talk talk are victims of a nervous habit. Silence makes them uncomfortable. They fear if they don't speak people will think they are stupid or dull. Nothing could be further from the truth. Silence is a better clue to intelligence than senseless chatter.

Train yourself to listen. You'll be amazed at what you can learn when your mouth is shut.

Dear Ann Landers: I heard you lecture recently and you said almost half of your readers are men. I was not surprised because my husband says all the men in his office discuss your column every day.

Since a great many men read you, Ann, will you print something about American men who are killing themselves trying to corner all the money in the world?

Every time I pick up a newspaper I see where some young executive had dropped dead of a coronary. I worry myself sick that my husband will be next.

What can be done about a man who is so obsessed to succeed that he is driving himself to an early grave? Yes, I like the advantages that come with money.

Visitors Brave Snowfall To Attend Spring Thaw '65

Monday's snowfall did not prevent a number of visitors from driving to Kelowna to attend the opening night of Spring Thaw '65. Among those noticed enjoying the intermission in the newly enclosed foyer of the Community Theatre were Dr. and Mrs. Allan McRoberts, and Mrs. Paddy Malcolm from Vernon. Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Huxton, Mrs. M. H. Kent, Mrs. Beverly Bella, Mrs. H. Monahan and Mrs. George Des Brisay from Penticton and Ben Trafford from Peachland.

A capacity audience received the satiric revue with great enthusiasm. Barbara Hamilton was as usual inimitable, and the caustic humor of Dave Broadfoot caused roars of laughter. The entire cast was excellent, and the new scenery furnished by an arrangement of folding screens, was most effective as were the clever costumes and the choreography by Alan Lund. One or two of the audience were even heard to say during intermission that they intended to attend the revue again if they could still obtain seats for the Tuesday afternoon performance.

Spring Thaw's appearances in Kelowna were sponsored by the Kelowna Rotary Club. Members of the club acted as ushers for the three performances and members of the cast of the revue were guests of the Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon meeting held at the Royal Anne Hotel.

A number of Kelownians entertained friends at their homes both before and after the performances.

Love Letters Quite Tenacious

PARIS (AP) — Love letters from enamored fans around the world pursue Sophia Loren right onto the set.

Looking quickly through a new batch, the brown-eyed star paused and said:

"These letters are sometimes amusing. They come from a variety of writers—from men who say they are in love with me to people who come right out and ask for money."

Miss Loren, who knew bitter property herself only 13 years ago, before her film career was launched, said she disregards all but the most obviously serious requests for financial help.

And the love letters? "Ah, I do not read them through. I have a husband, after all."

V.O.W. Reports Activities And Elects New Officers

Mrs. A. Haines, president of the Voice of Women, outlined some of the highlights of the organization's activities during the annual V.O.W. meeting held on Thursday, January 21, at the home of Mrs. William Knowles, and the election of officers for 1965 was held.

An essay contest for high school students, co-operation with other groups in the Patriotic Party, and a drive to collect funds for the Canada-Myrtle Project were among the many activities. The V.O.W. also assisted the United Nations' Association; sold UNICEF cards, reaching the $1,500 mark before Christmas; undertook the printing and sale of International Co-operation Year Hard-Notes to raise money for I.C.Y. and held a "Round the World" bake sale.

The high point of the year was the National Annual Meeting of the Voice of Women held at Banff which provided an interesting and informative experience for those attending, bringing as it did contact with other members from all over Canada. Many discussion programs were also carried out during the year on subjects such as biculturalism, Indian Affairs, war toys, the population explosion, International Co-operation learn the work of other local organizations of women, and would continue projects not yet completed and institute others as the need arose.

During the tea hour at the conclusion of the meeting it was decided to write letters to toy manufacturers protesting war toys. The letters are to be written by the group itself and by individual members. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, February 18.

Wilson's Position Precarious But An Election "Near Disaster"

TORONTO (CP)—Lord Thomson said here that British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's political position is precarious but that a change in government would be "nearly disastrous".

"A new Conservative government would quickly be in difficulties with the nation's labor force and the confusion that would result would be extremely damaging to Britain's economy and her position in world affairs," the Canadian-born peer said in a speech to the Metropolitan Toronto board of trade.

He expressed the hope that the Labor government will be able to carry on and said he has no doubt that Britain's current economic crisis will be overcome through the traditional British common-sense, patriotism and willingness for self-sacrifice.

The communications magnate said the British economy is under great stress and the necessary corrective measures will be both unpopular and difficult to apply. Notice of higher taxes had been given, and there would have to be some form of wage restraint.

These and other measures still to come "must inevitably result in a slow-down of business in general with resulting unemployment."

Lord Thomson foresaw a political crisis over Prime Minister Wilson's determination to take the life of his government on such measures as nationalization of the steel industry, which he said is not supported by majority opinion in the country and is firmly opposed by all the parliamentary opposition.

"If, as seems likely, several members of his own party would not support such a bill, this would bring about his defeat and cause another election. If he drops these measures, he would leave a rebellion on his left wing. His position is precarious."

Lord Thomson—who toured Russia last summer—advised the West to take advantage of the split between Russia and China to improve relations with the former.

"Surely we can use this situation to bring about a new era of understanding and co-operation with the Soviet Union to our mutual advantage."

"There is no doubt Chinese communism is the greatest danger today. Chinese communism is communism in the absolute raw, uncompromising, cruel and ruthless—even more ruthless than the Russian communism of 30 years ago."

"It is their avowed intention to carry it all over the world, and it is their freely-expressed belief that there must be war to the death between the capitalist and Communist countries."

"The Russian leaders do not want and will not permit war. They believe communism will win over capitalism by what they can do for their people."

"Duke" Encourages Nat "King" Cole

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Singer Nat "King" Cole took comfort today in a well-worn telegram as he convalesced from an operation for removal of his left lung.

Hospital officials said surgery was necessitated by a malignancy.

The telegram was from actor John Wayne, who underwent surgery a few months ago for removal of a cancerous tumor from a lung. Wayne's message read:

"I licked it. So can you."

Surgeons removed Cole's lung Monday at St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica.

Cole's wife, Maria, said "The Duke's" wire has encouraged her husband more than almost any of the thousands he has received since entering the hospital Dec. 9.

Doctors reported Cole's post-operative condition was satisfactory.

New Bid To Break Deadlock Gripping Washington State

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—New attempts were made today to break an electoral-district reform deadlock that has paralyzed the state legislature.

The U.S. district court in Seattle has ruled the lawmakers must enact a bill equalizing population among legislative districts to assure equal representation.

The bill was passed by the House and Senate but was vetoed Tuesday by Governor Dan Evans.

Gov. Evans is a Republican in a state whose Senate and House of Representatives are controlled by Democratic majorities.

The Senate voted—on party lines—to ask the court to accept the bill over the governor's veto.

Gov. Evans said the bill would deprive the people of a two-party system by providing enough safe districts for the Democrats to assure them perpetual control of legislature.

"PROTECTING PARTY"

Democrats said the governor used his veto for partisan, political reasons to protect the Republican party.

Sen. William Gissberg, the Democrat who drafted Tuesday's request to the court, said the Democratic redistributing bill had been approved by the state attorney general as meeting constitutional requirements for equal representation by population.

The proposal asked the court to put the bill into effect so the legislature could go on with other business.

Washington's legislature has been bogged down in the redistributing mire for three weeks.

Legislative action has been held up on more than 300 bills on file, which are being processed by committees but, under the court order, can go no further.

Car Buyers Seeking Bargains Said In For Disappointment

By GORDON GRANT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Car buyers looking for a quick reduction in price following the signing of the limited free trade agreement between the United States and Canada are in for a disappointment.

Ron W. Todgham, president of Chrysler of Canada and newly elected president of the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers' Association, said, however, that a narrowing of price differences between cars in the two countries is bound to result.

Mr. Todgham said in an interview there is no possibility of a quick reduction because of the tremendous outlays needed for expansion and modernization of Canadian car manufacturing plants.

He said the greatest dislocation as a result of the pact will be among parts manufacturers who will face stiff competition from giant U.S. parts suppliers.

"I doubt if the small, inefficient and poorly financed companies will be able to survive in the face of the new competition. But the well-equipped plants with solid financial support can't help but improve their position."

Mr. Todgham said there has been a concentration by the press on the potential effects of the agreement with little written about the reason for it.

AIDS PAYMENT POSITION

The reason, he said, is not to get lower car prices in Canada but rather to do something about Canada's chronic imbalance of payments position.

Mr. Todgham said "This is the first time to my knowledge that any legislation like this has been developed with the co-operation and understanding of industry."

He said most opposition to the agreement is coming from inefficient plants likely to fold in the face of new competition.

Most people are not aware, he said, of the fact that the Canadian automobile industry built into the pact to prevent it from being swallowed by the U.S. industry.

Paris Steps Out To Work

PARIS (Reuters)—Thousands of Parisians struggled to work on foot, in army trucks or by hitch-hiking today as the first stages of a two-day state employees' strike cut rail and bus transport to a trickle.

At midnight Tuesday night, the country's 350,000 railworkers went on strike along with 200,000 post office workers, 300,000 teachers and nearly 1,000,000 more including garbage collectors, civil servants, bus crews and subway workers.

Air services were to be restricted for 24 hours from 7 a.m., but mainly within France. International flights were not expected to be affected.

The reaction of the strike expected to have the greatest effect on the public will be the walkout of 220,000 gas and electricity workers at 9 p.m.

This will cause a cut in power about the same time as the railworkers return to work around midnight tonight.

The effect on France's rail system will be the same as a prolongation of the rail strike, since much of it is classified.

Strikers have promised to leave 15,000 men on duty to assure electricity for hospitals, schools and other vital services.

Memories Of Omdurman Charge Recalled By Churchill Funeral

LONDON (CP)—Memories of the British Army's last cavalry charge will be recalled by Sir Winston Churchill's state funeral Saturday.

Key duties have been assigned to Churchill's first regiment, the Queen's Royal Irish Hussars, which he joined in 1896.

An army spokesman reported Tuesday that two of Winston's comrades in the Omdurman battle of 1898—said to be the last British full-scale cavalry charge—are expected to see the funeral on television if not in person.

They were identified only as Capt. Baddeley and Sgt. Freeman, both about the same age as Churchill, who died Sunday at 90.

Long War In South Viet Nam Seen As Entering New Phase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war in South Viet Nam may be entering a new tactical phase with growing infiltration of fighters from North Viet Nam to beef up guerrilla forces battling the South Vietnamese.

U.S. officials said Tuesday night they estimate on the basis of intelligence reports that probably 10,000 trained fighters infiltrated into the south from North Viet Nam last year. They also estimated that about 60 per cent of these were North Vietnamese instead of southerners trained in the north and sent back home.

(South Vietnamese Ambassador Tran Thien Khlem had told The Associated Press in an interview Dec. 3 that North Viet Nam had sent 50,000 to 40,000 infiltrators into South Viet Nam during the last three years and the flow was continuing at a stepped-up pace.)

The intelligence estimates indicate a deeper direct involvement of North Viet Nam in the struggle in the south.

U.S. officials say the increase in North Vietnamese pressure may be accounted for partly by a drop almost to the vanishing point of South Vietnamese Communists available for training in the north.

Authorities here do not rule out, however, the possibility that the North Vietnamese may believe they are approaching a Communist victory in the south and intend to intensify their efforts to take over the country at a more rapid rate.

The latest figures appear certain to figure in debate on U.S. policy toward Viet Nam. This debate has already produced some demands in Congress that the United States should withdraw, negotiate a neutralization agreement with the Communists or otherwise find a way to end the struggle.

At the other extreme there are reports to be some officials within the government who would like to see the war broadened to put greater pressure on North Viet Nam.

Ten British Soccer Players Jailed For Throwing Matches

NOTTINGHAM, England—Ten British soccer players were sentenced to jail for throwing matches in a scandal that rocked the National League yesterday.

Eight players were sentenced to jail for life, including two English internationals, being sentenced to prison for throwing matches. James Gould, described as the central figure, was jailed for four years and ordered to pay £5,000 (£15,000) legal costs.

Two others got 15 months, nine months, three others six months and three four months. Mr. Justice Lawton, the presiding judge, told Gould: "You have befuddled professional football and corrupted your friends and acquaintances."

The 10 players were convicted on charges of throwing matches and cheating bookies.

It was a case comparable with the Black Sox baseball scandal in the United States in 1919, the one in which eight Chicago White Sox players, the American League winners, were found to

Not Too Many Worries Yet For New Giant's Field Boss

NEW YORK (AP)—Herman Franks, new manager of San Francisco Giants, hasn't much to worry about—yet.

But a faint distress signal emanates from Santo Domingo where Juan Marichal, the Giants' ace pitcher, has developed groin trouble and a troublesome boil under his right arm.

What's more, he was ineffective Tuesday while working in the Dominican championships. The big right-hander was tagged for seven runs and eight hits in less than five innings as his team lost 8-4.

Marichal won 21 games for San Francisco last season despite a back ailment that sidelined him for a month in late summer.

HASN'T SIGNED
He has yet to sign his 1965 contract. However, two batters, catchers Tom Haller and Del Crandall, came to terms Tuesday. Haller hit 258 with 16 homers last year, while the 35-year-old Crandall batted .221 in 60 games.

The rival Los Angeles Dodgers also received three signed contracts. They were from shortstop Maury Wills, pitcher Joe Mauer and catcher Hector Valle.

Among others who signed were second baseman Don Buford and pitcher Tom John of Chicago White Sox, pitcher Al Worthington of Minnesota Twins, pitchers Pete Lovrich and Ron Tompkins and second baseman Tony Larussa of Kansas City Athletics and pitchers Bob Lee and Don Lee of the Angels.

Wills stole 33 bases last season. Since joining the Dodgers in the mid-season of 1959, he has stolen 228. It was understood he will receive $50,000 for the season's work, the same salary he earned last year.

Bob and Don Lee, not related, are the 17th and 18th Angels to sign their 1965 contracts.

Bob was outstanding in relief last season. He appeared in 64 games, a record for rookies. His record was 6-5 for the season and his earned-run average was 1.33.

Hicks Slips In AHL Race
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Two American Hockey League players who seldom score and one who never does are making their mark in the league's statistical derby.

Veteran playmakers Art Stratton of Buffalo Bisons and Ed Litzberger of Rochester Americans are running 1-3 in the individual point standings and Gerry Cheevers, Rochester's plucky puck-stopper, is the No. 1 goaltender, latest AHL figures show.

Stratton, with 11 goals, and Litzberger, with 12, pose no threat to top lampighter Len Lunde of the Bisons, who has 30. But Stratton's league-leading 46 assists give him a two point edge, 59 to 57, over Lunde in the scoring race.

Litzberger, whose 41 assists rate right behind Stratton, has a one-point margin, 53 to 52, over fourth-place Kelowna's Wayne Hicks of Quebec Aces.

Cheevers and the Bisons' Ed Chadwick are tied for the shut-out lead with four.

Cheevers has a 2.47 goals-against mark in 46 games.

Speed-Skating Meot Attracts 15 Nations
OSLO (AP)—Thirty-nine skaters from 15 nations, including Canada, have applied to take part in the world speed-skating championships here Feb. 13-14, the Norwegian organizing committee announced today.

A spokesman for the committee said the list of entrants will have to be reduced if no skaters withdraw voluntarily before the championships.

With 18 nations participating, the maximum number of entrants is 30 according to the rules of the International Skating Union, the spokesman said.

The participating countries are: Austria, Britain, Canada, China, Finland, France, Holland, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Norway, Outer Mongolia, Russia, Sweden and West Germany.

Touring Canadian Hoopsters Seen As Reality For 1965

VANCOUVER (CP)—Luke Moyle, president of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association, is confident Canada will be able to form a national team this year and send it on an international tour.

Moyle, who returned Monday night from Ottawa, said representatives of the amateur sports fitness council there had seemed "very impressed" with the CABA's proposals for the national team.

Moyle's delegation asked for a grant of $12,500 to set up the team, train it and send it on a Latin-American tour.

"They favored our brief and I assume they will recommend it to the minister of health and welfare," Moyle said. "We hope to receive the grant before the end of next month so we can start organizing to select the team."

The first job would be to obtain a training site, preferably at a university, and select a national coach who would select 30 players for three weeks training.

The team would be trimmed to 12 players for a 14-game tour of Mexico, Peru, Brazil and Puerto Rico in May and June.

Emery Clocks Fastest Time

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (Reuters)—Canada's No. 1 four-man bobsled entry, steered by Olympic gold medalist Vic Emery of Montreal, shared the day's fastest time with an Austrian crew in practice here today for next weekend's world championships.

Both clocked 1:19.32 minutes on their second run and the Austrian bob on its first—down the 1,600-metre track.

The Austrians took 1:20.48 minutes on their second run which gave them the day's best aggregate of 2:40.46. Emery had a slower first ride of 1:22.54 for a total of 2:42.46.

Leafs' Injuries Making Hawks' Brass Poor Seers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Injuries. That's one factor Chicago Black Hawks management didn't consider last October when they predicted Toronto Maple Leafs would finish 10 to 15 points ahead of the other National Hockey League teams.

Toronto, defending Stanley Cup champions, began the season by winning three and tying three of its first six games to set the pace. But then the roof fell in and injuries have mounted ever since.

Toronto players have missed a total of more than 60 games through injuries. The Leafs are still a respectable six points behind first-place Montreal but, on the other hand, only a point up on fourth-place Detroit.

Other teams have suffered because of injuries—Boston has lost Bobby Lemer and Dean Prentice for the season while Montreal's Gilles Tremblay is out for several months—but Toronto's miseries haven't been centred on just a few players.

Only six regulars have dressed for every game: Red Kelly, Ron Stewart, Carl Brewer, Kent Douglas, Tim Horton and Bob Baum.

MISSING 15 GAMES
Andy Bathgate, recently back after suffering a broken thumb, has missed 15 games through injuries. Tied for second with 11 games are Frank Mahovlich and George Armstrong.

Rookie Ron Ellis has missed eight games, Dave Keon five, Bob Fuld and Allan Stanley three each and Jim Pappia two. Dickie Moore hasn't dressed for 23 games, Billy Harris for three and Eddie Shack two, but some of these are due to manpower manoeuvres.

Stewart, however, now is on the injury list along with Pappia and Armstrong. Coach Punch Imlach plans to have Armstrong back in action by the weekend but the other two are doubtful.

Injuries have spawned defeat in Toronto and, according to the players, exhaustion. To meet the crisis, Imlach gave the Leafs—accustomed to a seven-day work week—a three-day rest following two defeats and one tie last week.

Imlach explained: "They have been crying about being tired. I would like to know what from. I gave them an ultimatum. If they don't produce after this holiday they'll be practicing twice a day and if that doesn't help we'll take other measures."

Don McKenney may be recalled from Rochester of the American League if the Leafs are shortstuffed.

"If Rochester helped McKenney," Imlach added, "we may have to prescribe the same treatment to some others, unless they start producing."

The Leafs don't play again until next weekend when they tangle with Boston in a home-and-home series. But they're sure to lose ground to Chicago and Montreal in the race for first place.

The Hawks and Canadiens tangle at Montreal tonight while Boston Bruins visit New York Rangers.

The Hawks, two points behind first-place Montreal, have gone 10 games without a defeat on the road but could walk into a hornets' nest following the Canadiens 3-0 loss to last-place Boston on Sunday.

everything's new but the fun— and that's a corvair exclusive

Take a good look at this '65 Corvair. Different, eh? It ought to be, it's the rakish new 4-door hardtop that's all-new, from the ground up. It's like nothing else going. That's only right and proper, since there's no other car like Corvair, anywhere.

And this year, Corvair's even more of a sport than ever before. There's an adventurous new Corsa series at the top of the line, plus hardtop styling on all closed models. That makes every Corvair sedan into a glamorous sports sedan and every bit as much fun as the popular coupes and convertibles. Under that beautiful new look is a new, faster steering system, new front and rear suspensions, new wide-stance tread and a new choice of power from Corvair's winter-loving, air-cooled rear engine. It all adds up to easier handling, greater stability, smoother ride, faster response and just great fun. The kind of fun that's exclusive to Corvair and its devoted owners.

Like to join that happy group? Then take a little trip down to your Chevrolet dealer's. Membership is standard equipment.

Packers to Cruise Ice Lanes At Minor Hockey Fete

Some 10 former senior play-ers will don the blades Satur-day night and resurrect mem-ories from Kelowna's "golden" hockey era. This is the night the members of the defunct Kelowna Packers play the juvenile all-stars as a climax to the dan-ning Minor Hockey Jambores. The jambores marks the clos- ing celebration of Minor Hockey Week in this area. Over 300 youngsters, members of the Kelowna and District Minor Hockey Association, will partici- pate in events starting at 1 p.m. through until 10 p.m. The Kelowna Figure Skating Club will also perform during the eve- ning. The feature attraction, the Packers-Juveniles game, starts at 8:30 p.m. Many members of the 1951-52 Packers, Allan Cup finalists, and a few ex-pros will be in the lineup. Senior Hockey League, Jim Middleton, has rounded up all those available here. In goal will be Ron Taylor, Bob Gilmooley, Orv Lavell, Jim Manson and former coach Jack O'Reilly will form the forward corps. Up front, the star-studded roster includes Joe Kahner, Bill "Bugs" Jones, "Phantom" Phil Hergenbether, Brian Roche, Frank Hoskins, Don Culley, Korneals and Boris Karatoff. These boys, still active with the Vernon Intermediate club, will strengthen either side. In reserve will be Jackie Howard, Joe Fisher, Northey, Korneals and Boris Karatoff. These boys, still active with the Vernon Intermediate club, will strengthen either side. The juveniles will counter with Terry Lawrence in goal and Gordon MacCrimmon, Doug Thompson, Doug Mendenberger and Bill Schmidt on defense. Their forward line will be made up of David Mironow, Gary McKenzie, Larry McKen- zie, Gordon Pless, Eric Schmidt, John Simons, Roy Olney, Harold McLeod, Ken Fieck, Greg McClelland and Kenny Leier. Following is the jambores program: Bantam games: 1 p.m.-1:35 P. m. 4-6-60 Spades vs. Quakers, Aces vs. Canucks, Regals vs. Royals. Short-Staffed Old Stylers Fall Victims To Osoyoos

OSOYOOS 4 KELOWNA 4

Kelowna Old Stylers, travel- ing light, bowed to second place Osoyoos in international league men's senior basketball action Tuesday night.

The understaffed Kelowna club lost 64-44 at Osoyoos. Playing with only seven men, Old Stylers were behind 42-29 after the first half. Bill Marino, high scoring forward, was not in the Kelowna lineup. He has been suspended for three games after being ejected from last Satur- day's games here with three technical fouls.

Alton Hockstetter led the win- ner's attack with 17 points. Emil Hinder with 14 and Charlie Preen with 12 were next highest Osoyoos marksmen.

For Kelowna, Pete Bulatovich and Bill Dean with 16 apiece, were the top scorers. Coach Harvey Raymond counted 11, Gerry Robertson 9, Hugh McNeil and Rick Williams 5 apiece.

BILL DEAN

Old Stylers still lead the loop with a 7-3 record. Osoyoos trail with a 4-4 mark. One win in their remaining two league games will clinch the title for Kelowna. They play at Toferton, Wash., Sunday afternoon and their final is with Osoyoos at Kelowna Feb. 4.

Walker Feels "Big Time" As Near As "Good" Right Hand

LONDON (AP) — British he didn't trouble me," heavyweights Billy Walker said. Powell, who went six rounds today the right-hand punch that with former world heavyweight knocked out Cha'ey Powell of champion Floyd Patterson last San Diego, Calif., could put month before being knocked him into the big time.

Walker, who knocked out "Patterson couldn't catch me in the second round of with a right like Walker did," a scheduled 10-round Tuesday last night. "I've been up against it think my right is coming for some time. And that in- back. I knew I hurt him and chides Cassius Clay."

SHUTTLETALK

By MARI McFADDEN

At the moment I'm suffering from an acute case of Davies- and-Daltonitis, a virulent disease that has been sweeping the badminton tournaments lately. It is of epidemic proportions and the victims suffer from recurrent symptoms.

Only a few players have developed sufficient resistance to withstand the onslaught of this disease and even they have suffered short attacks. However, a promising vaccine is now being tested and although still in the early stages, it is pro- ducing encouraging results. Fear was expressed the vaccine may not yet be quite strong enough. It is reliably reported a breakthrough is inevitable in the near future.

That could be the story of the latest badminton tournament, the Shuswap championships, held in Salmon Arm last week- end. I must hasten to say Marlene Davies and the Dalns are fine competitors and when in action, a joy to watch. However, it would be refreshing to see stronger competition and an occasional new face.

Possibly the solution can be found in the "B" flight re- sults. Kelowna Junior Bruce Stevens won the men's singles in two games, then with partners Gillian Paynter and Ken Larson triumphed in the mixed and men's doubles.

This tournament was a first for 13-year-old Jimmy Mc- Allister of Revelstoke in more ways than one. He made his debut into tournament play on the weekend and with father Pat McAllister, a veteran competitor in local tournaments, Jimmy was runner-up in the "C" flight men's doubles.

Of the 80 entrants from Revelstoke, Merritt, Kamloops and the Okanagan Valley who took part in the tournament, 22 were from the Kelowna Badminton Club and Kelowna players were finalists in eight of the 13 events.

Following are the results in the "A", "B" and "C" flights:

"A" Flight Ladies' Singles—Marlene Davies (SA) defeated Shirley Bodman (Kam) 5-11, 11-0, 11-5. Men's Singles—Chris Dalin (Celista) defeated Chex Larson (K) 15-7, 15-3. Ladies' Doubles—M. Davies and Jessie-Anne Gamble (Arm) defeated D. Bur- ris and Shirley Boggum (Kam) 15-3, 15-5. Men's Doubles—Bill and Chris Dalin defeated Chex Larson and B. Bennett (K) 15-13, 15-0. Mixed Doubles—Chris and Yvonne Dalin defeated B. Dalin and M. Davies 15-12, 7-15, 15-12.

"B" Flight Ladies' Singles—P. Hanson (V) defeated S. Stirling (K) 11-0, 11-1. Men's Singles—B. Stevens (K) defeated A. Taka- hashi 15-7, 15-7. Ladies' Doubles—M. Schaafsma (SA) and B. Butler defeated S. Sato and S. Thompson (SA) 15-0, 15-0. Men's Doubles—B. Stevens and K. Larson (K) defeated F. Kelly (Palkland) and O. Forgaard (SA) 16-18, 15-12, 15-0. Mixed Doubles—B. Stevens and G. Paynter (K) defeated F. and S. Kelly 15-9, 15-9.

"C" Flight Men's Singles—D. Horner (V) defeated A. Larson (K) 15-3, 11-15, 15-12. Men's Doubles—E. Jamieson and B. Cun- ning (V) defeated P. McAllister and J. McAllister (Rev.) 15-8, 15-6. Mixed Doubles—K. Heyman (K) and P. McAllister defeated D. Speed (Celista) and M. Schaafsma (SA) 18-10, 18-15.

Trail Victors In Overtime

TRAIL (CP) — Trail Smoke Eaters tied the score in the last minute of their rescheduled Western International Hockey League game with Rossland on Tuesday night, then added three overtime goals to win 9-6.

Rossland Warriors were lead- ing 5-3 at the end of the second period, but managed only one goal in the next period and none in the 10 minutes of overtime.

Norm Lenardon scored the tie-goal for the Smokeats, and two others; Gerry Pooner added two goals, and singletons came from Gus Saravattus, Pinoke McIntyre, George Ferguson and Dave Russell.

Scorers for Rossland were Bill Martin, Lynn Bentley, Ed Le- gare, Bud Andrews, Alex Reid and Ivan Shusheski.

Visiting Scottish Curlers Rebound

TORONTO (CP) — Visiting Scottish curlers demonstrated their mastery of the draw game here Tuesday, winning four out of six matches against Ontario in the 10th round of the Strathcona Cup.

The Scots defeated the On- tario curlers by an aggregate score of 68-59. But Canada still leads the competition by an over-all total of 1,144 to 900 with four rounds remaining in the cross-Canada competition.

W. M. Thompson of Toronto, defeated William Aikman of Edinburgh 12-4; Bib Gjerston of Stranraer defeated A. J. Park- hill of Oshawa 10-8; David Lid- dell of Glasgow defeated T. F. Beattie of Toronto 13-10; Jack Gow of Edinburgh defeated Dr. C. H. Breton of Toronto 14-13; Duncan Nicol of Fife defeated A. W. Strickland of Toronto 18-4; and Dr. A. C. Baillie of Orillia defeated Dr. Eddie Walls of Southville, Dollar, 12-10.

The Scots play in Ottawa to- day. The tour ends with the Scots playing at Montreal Thursday, Fredericton Friday and Halifax Saturday.

Victoria Thumps Lowly Seals In Lax Defensive Contest

VICTORIA (CP) — Defences let down on both teams as Vic- toria Maple Leafs dropped San Francisco Seals 6-3 before 2,401 fans here Tuesday night.

The result moved Leafs to within one point of third-place Vancouver Canucks and left Seals in the league cellar, two points away from fifth-place Los Angeles Blades.

Veteran Ed Marur led the Victoria attack with two goals and an assist, all in the first period. Dick Lamoureux, John Seaver, Danny Belisle and Milan Marcetta got the other Vic- toria goals.

Dallas Smith, Ray Cyr and Charlie Burns, with the 26th goal of the season, were the San Francisco scorers.

Victoria goaltender Al Miller, blocked 38 shots, 16 of them in the last period, and Bob Per- rault of San Francisco turned aside 22.

Seals opened scoring in the fourth minute of play as the Leafs floundered in their own end, but a penalty to Len Haley allowed Leafs to tie the game just over a minute later as La- moureux deflected a quick pass shot by Seaver.

Leafs took over with three more goals in the first period and added two more in the sec- ond.

In a game marked by wildly bouncing pucks and tacky ice, Leafs were never seriously threatened after the first few minutes of play.

Technology And Good Demand Set To Increase On The Farm

REGINA (C.P.) — Economic factors affecting Canada's agricultural economy and forecasts of what the Canadian farm population can expect in the way of production demands were given delegates at the Canadian Federation of Agriculture convention here today.

Dr. J. J. Deutsch, chairman of the economic council of Canada said technological changes that have taken place since 1945 would continue and with favorable demand the overall commercial exports of agricultural products would increase some what over the relatively high levels of 1953.

Dr. Deutsch said increases in total demand for Canadian agricultural products are primarily determined by the increases in Canadian population and between 1953 and 1970 an increase in population of about 15 per cent is expected, with an increase of 20 to 25 per cent in per capita disposable income.

The overall trends, however, do not indicate substantial changes in the demand for individual farm products," he said.

He said increased consumption of meats, particularly poultry and beef during the 1951-53 period would probably continue and it appears reasonable to conclude that increased emphasis on livestock fruit and vegetable production will continue to be required to meet the changing demands for final products in the domestic market.

Dr. Deutsch said similar changes were taking place in the traditional markets of Canada and prospects for increased exports of agricultural products to these countries would be more in commodities for which the demand is growing more rapidly.

War Criminal Escapee Jailed

BRUNSWICK, West Germany (Reuters) — Convicted Nazi war criminal Hans - Walter Zech-Neundorff was sentenced to 18 months imprisonment today for escaping from a jail here last April.

Dietrich Zechmann, a guard who unlocked six doors standing between Zech-Neundorff's cell and freedom, was sentenced to 18 months as an accomplice in the escape.

Two other accomplices of the 48-year-old former SS (Elite Corps) lieutenant — his former guard friend Margit Stenheuer and businessman Hermann Gut- tuck — received six months each.

Gutuck drove Zech - Neundorff to a lonely airfield near the Dutch border from where he flew to Switzerland in a hired private plane with his girlfriend. She later joined him in Cairo, where they broke up because she felt she had been cheated.

Zech - Neundorff's housekeeper and fiancée, Rosemarie Heitbruggeman, was sentenced to three months jail. After the prison break, the court was told, she provided the former SS officer with a passport and money to finance his escape to the United Arab Republic.

The escape took place two days after Zech-Neundorff was sentenced to four years for aiding in two wartime murders.

When ever Sylvia learned a new convention, it became impossible to stop her from making use of it at the slightest pretext. She treated each convention added to her repertoire in much the same way as a child who receives a brand new toy and cannot stop playing with it until its wonders have been fully explored and exhausted.

When Sylvia was taught the Blackwood convention, for example, she became so enamored by it that she would make use of it on hands where even a two!

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

No day-dreaming this day! With creative and business affairs under beneficent auspices, make the most of all opportunities and forge ahead with long-postponed plans and new ventures which can materially affect your future. Don't scatter energies, however. Stick to essentials.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you can make fine headway in the coming year if you concentrate on your most ambitious goals and are willing to assume some—but not too many—added responsibilities. Aquarians have a tendency to take on too many burdens, but it would prove detrimental to do so this year, since it could invite fatigue if you accept them all.

Occupational headway and financial gains are promised during the latter half of April, May, early August, September and November. Be conservative during the first half of April, however; also in late August.

During October consolidate gains since, after November, you can expect no further boosts along these lines until January, of 1955.

This new year will be exceptionally good for those engaged in creative pursuits, either vocationally or avocationally, and personal relationships will be generously governed for most of the year.

Best periods for romance: late April, late June and late July (the latter month especially good for marriage). A child born on this day will be loyal, conscientious and devoted to home and family.

Recent Indications On Strike See No Prospect Of Settlement

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The union and employers have agreed "but we have not yet reached an agreement" on the waterfront strike that has tied up the port for almost four months is far from being over.

In an attempt to come to terms with the St. John's Employers' Association which represents the shipping companies, the striking longshoremen's Protective Union had earlier agreed to ask one-third of its 500-man work force to give up union membership and accept severance pay.

Union President Norman Deegan said Monday "some of the men have agreed to the plan but it is going to be damn hard to get the rest." He said the union has been the severance scheme would interviewing union members for more than a month and a good more efficient.

CNR Officials Given Blame For Run-Through Chaos

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian National Railways' officials were responsible for the chaotic situation that developed over its run-through proposals because they dealt directly with the employees rather than union representatives, the Freedman commission on the proposals was told Monday.

Maurice Wright of Ottawa, counsel for three railway unions, said he expected the commission to investigate closely all factors which "created the state of panic among the men" last October when the run-throughs were to be implemented.

About 2,800 railway employees booked off work the week the run-throughs were to be implemented. Normal rail service resumed two days later when the federal government there is a legitimate area in announced the proposal would be investigated.

Run-through is a term for having cross operate through centres where they normally efficiency."

INTERESTING METHOD
Mr. Wright, in setting out his test of the CNR's responsibility case before the commission headed by Mr. Justice Samuel Freedman of Winnipeg, said the method by which the run-through proposals were communicated to the men was indirect. The implementation is indirect because no final assurance has been given the Northern Ontario towns that an earlier run-through proposal affecting it will not be renewed. The committee successfully opposed a run-through proposal in 1963.

The brief said past changes in the rail operations meant a loss of 50 jobs when a car repair depot was closed and loss of 60 jobs in the roundhouse staff and a loss of 19 in other departments.

Other briefs were presented by the councils of the Township of Chateaufort, 100 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, Township of Schreiber, 80 miles east of the Lakehead, and Township of Freeman, MacTier, 130 miles east of Sudbury. All are on the CPR mainline and not directly involved in the inquiry. All expressed concern with the policy of run-throughs and contended the Freedman inquiry's terms of reference had a general application.

Both the Schreiber and Freeman MacTier briefs said: "Surely some policy or mode of operation can be worked out whereby the government, the railways and all those affected by the proposed changes can be mutually satisfied. Above all we feel that the government and the railways would be obligated jointly in assuming that share of the existing debt of those who may be forced to move."

China Puts Squeeze On Tibet, Move To Liquidate Ruler Seen

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—A Tibetan monk said today he has come to India to tell the Dalai Lama the Communist Chinese in Tibet were planning to liquidate the Panchen Lama.

The Dalai Lama, called Buddhist spiritual leader of Tibet, fled his country in 1959 after a Chinese takeover.

The Panchen Lama, brought up and tutored by the Chinese since childhood and formerly temporal leader of Tibet, was set up as a puppet leader of the Himalayan country by Peking.

The monk, Nagawang Thubdo, told a press conference the Chinese "have decided to launch an all-out attack on the Buddhist religion of Tibet and swamp the Tibetan people."

"In this effort," he said, "they are planning to liquidate the Panchen Lama and even arrest his widow dressing for foreign visitors."

The monk said he hopes to meet the Dalai Lama, who now lives in the Himalayan resort of Dharamshala, Sunday or Monday.

He said the Chinese hoped the Panchen Lama would carry out their orders, but he refused to accept the chairmanship of the

France Builds Up Guerrillas As Defence In Nuclear Attack

PARIS (Reuters)—A system of guerrilla defence throughout France in the event of atomic attack has been worked out as part of a full-scale renovation and re-equipment of all three French armed forces.

The guerrilla program centres on the creation of a new unit of infantry, the commando.

Commandos are not, however, an addition to the traditional big body of French infantry but a new form which the majority of the infantry will eventually take on.

In forming the commando, French military experts have abolished the classic breakdown of foot soldiers into sections, platoons, companies, battalions, regiments and brigades.

The smallest unit in the new format is the commando itself, a group of eight men, fighting under a non-commissioned officer.

Four commandos make up a detachment, four detachments a group, and groups plus a support group, a regiment.

WORK INDEPENDENTLY
Working in large formations, they will thus be able to act like any other infantry force when engaged in classic conventional warfare. But they will also, if necessary, be able to operate independently down to the eight-man level.

A commando is equipped with two sub-machine-guns, two anti-tank guns, two machine-guns and a walkie-talkie radio, the arms being shared among the eight men. On their backs, they carry food, ammunition and spare clothing.

Their training is the same as that of infantry fighting men plus close combat skill, a higher-than-normal degree of toughness, and plenty of personal initiative.

The conversion of the regular infantry into commandos has only just begun with a few spearhead regiments. But it is intended that, eventually, nearly all foot soldiers shall be mem-

Beetle Like Satellites Soar In New Communications Set-Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two beetle-like satellites, a string of eight communications satellites and a reactor-in-the-sky will be sent aloft by U.S. space scientists.

Plans for the projects were revealed in three separate announcements Monday.

The space beetles—with antennae extending almost a third of a mile—are designed to seek the source of mysterious celestial radio signals from the Milky Way galaxy, its planets and the stars.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says the first of the 200-pound spacecraft is due to be launched on a 3,700 mile above the earth sometime in 1967, at the earliest.

The two satellites will measure the intensity and frequency of the signals, the time of emission and, within limits, will seek to pinpoint the regions of space from which they come.

The eight communications satellites are to be launched simultaneously and used by the defence department.

U.S. Files Big Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The United States filed a $25,000,000 tax recovery suit against two financiers and 23 associates Monday, contending that trust funds set up for children of the two men were fraudulently executed to avoid payment of taxes.

The two are Harry S. Stonehill, 47, formerly of Chicago, whose last known address is Vancouver, B.C., and Robert P. Brooks, whose address is unknown here.

The government claims that Stonehill owes $13,613,721 in taxes, penalties and interest for the years 1958 through 1961, and that Brooks owes $11,182,968.

The government leveled on trusts for the children of each of the two men as well as on property of corporations and partnerships in which the men were involved.

The corporations included the Pine Street Management Fund, the Brookstone Corporation, the Harroman Company, Incorporated, the California Street Corporation, and the Palo Corporation, Marinship Enterprises, Incorporated, all solely owned by Stonehill, Brooks and their wives.

The government says Judith Bner and Company and Swiss Bank Corporation claim an interest in the assets of these companies and consequently are named as defendants, along with others such as the Wells Fargo Bank, American Trust Company, builder Peter O. Mutel and others, who, the government said, had partnership or other interests with some of the Stonehill enterprises.

Rail Depot Torn Down

VANCOUVER (CP)—After a half-century of service to commuters between Vancouver and Seattle and points south and east, the Great Northern Railway station here is being torn down.

The station was closed down more than a year ago when Great Northern became a joint tenant of the adjoining CNR station. It was built in 1912 and the original plan was to accommodate the CNR as well but the government railway decided to build its own station.

Several piers sunk in Amsterdam canal in the 17th century as house supports still exist in good condition today.

Cigarette Firm Appeals Case

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A jury decision clearing a cigarette manufacturer in the lung cancer death of a heavy smoker is being appealed.

Mrs. Edwin Green and her son, Edwin Jr., asked the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans Monday to reverse the decision of a jury which said the American Tobacco Company cannot be sued for punitive damages for the death of Edwin Green.

Green, a contractor, died in 1958 of lung cancer. His family attributed the cause of death to cigarettes. Green was said to have smoked as much as three packs a day for 30 years. The suit asked $1,500,000.

The family's lawyer, Dr. Lawrence Hastings, said U.S. District Judge Ernest Chase erred in telling the 12-man jury that the tobacco company will be liable only if its cigarettes endangered "any important number of cigarette smokers."

Hastings said the evidence presented in the trial showed that one of 10 heavy smokers die of lung cancer after 20 or years.

STRIKE IN SAIGON RESULTS IN GOVERNMENT'S FALL

A club-wielding Vietnamese paratrooper, wearing a gas mask, tries to arrest a man on the run during Buddhist anti-government demonstration in front of the U.S. embassy in Saigon. Tuesday a young girl burned herself to death and riots against the government flared across the land with the result that Tuesday the government of Pre-

Seeds of East-West Row Grow on Feed Grain Issue

REGINA (CP)—The seeds of an East-West dispute over a feed grain policy were planted Tuesday and may grow today as the Canadian Federation on Agriculture moves to the second day of its annual meeting. A division of opinion between delegates from Eastern and Western Canada flared Tuesday as the convention started on a lengthy, involved feed grain resolution.

Extradition Decision Near For Cellbound Drug Suspect

MONTREAL (CP)—A Canadian court decision is near in the extradition case of Lucien Rivard, who has been sitting cellbound in Montreal while trying to avoid a transfer to a Texas jail. Efforts on Rivard's behalf to get him bail led to appointment of the Dorion judicial inquiry now investigating allegations of a bribery attempt involving a ministerial aide of a Liberal cabinet member in Ottawa. Rivard, 49, a Montrealer, is accused in a U.S. federal grand jury indictment of being a kingpin conspirator in the smuggling of narcotics in multi-million dollar amounts. Though postponement has followed postponement in the legal infighting, final arguments are scheduled to be heard Thursday on Rivard's attempt to block extradition by obtaining a writ of habeas corpus, which would free him from jail. Presiding Judge Francois Caron of Superior Court says he hopes to hand down his judgment the same day. Arrest of Rivard and three other Montrealers was made at the request of U.S. authorities following up the seizure in October, 1962, at the Texas-Mexico border of 76 pounds of heroin with a value on the illicit narcotics market of $54,000,000. Rivard has been in jail in Montreal since last June 19, with his arrest for extradition following a true bill brought in by the Texas grand jury. Ever since, he has been fighting extradition and has been unsuccessful in efforts to win bail. Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne, counsel for the U.S. in the extradition proceedings against Rivard, has testified before the Dorion inquiry that Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay, offered him $20,000 last July 14 to agree to block extradition by obtaining a writ of habeas corpus, which would free him from jail. The U.S. indictment says that members of the alleged conspiracy would smuggle heroin into Canada and Mexico, using everything from ocean liners to automobiles, and thence into the U.S. . . .

WORRY ABOUT FUTURE Earlier delegates were told many farmers are concerned about the future as rising production costs increase faster than the prices farmers receive for their products. J. M. Bentley, CFA president, said in his annual report that in recent years agriculture has met rising costs primarily by increasing its efficiency. "But all farmers are concerned as to how long they can continue to meet the rise in the cost of goods and services by stepping up the efficiency of their operations." Forest Minister Sauve, at a noon luncheon, said the root of poverty in rural areas lies in the area of human rather than physical economic resources. Dr. J. J. Deutsch, chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, said a substantial improvement in farm incomes would depend, at least in part, in a further reduction of the number of small marginal farms. The meeting ends Thursday.

WHEN NELSON FELL AT TRAFALGAR Another Great Funeral...

LONDON (CP)—The death of Admiral Lord Nelson at the Battle of Trafalgar in October, 1805, plunged Britain into deep mourning. Londoners paid homage to him at the biggest "public funeral" the capital had yet seen—one not to be equalled for a private citizen until the death of the Duke of Wellington 46 years later. Nelson's body, brought back to England on his flagship Victory, lay in state for three days under a black velvet canopy at Greenwich Naval Hospital. Early Jan. 8, the day before the state funeral in St. Paul's Cathedral, the body of the 48-year-old admiral was carried in a foot procession, files and drums playing a muffled funeral march, to the River Thames. Here, to the mournful tolling of a bell, it was loaded aboard a funeral barge, one of four stilt barges heading the 17-ship procession up the Thames. The barge, rowed by 16 seamen from Victory, was covered in black velvet with a canopy made from four shields bearing Nelson's coat of arms, edged with nodding plumes of black ostrich feathers. At the barge's bow flew a half-staff Union Jack; in the stern stood six naval officers and six trumpeters. At the head of the coffin a senior herald carried a velvet cushion with Nelson's viscount coronet. Fifth in the procession was the king's barge, bearing members of the Royal Family. All seven sons of King George III attended Nelson's funeral, grotesque, and was the subject of some scathing contemporary comment. A top the car, drawn by six horses, four columns representing laurel-twined palm trees supported a canopy shaped like an Egyptian tomb, inscribed with the names of Nelson's famous victories and bearing sable plumes. The coffin lay exposed to public view, covered in black velvet and studded with 10,000 gilt nails. Inside, an inner coffin made from the mast of a French ship captured at Aboukir Bay carried the small, frail body of the admiral. Prominent in the parade were 48 seamen and marines from the Victory—the number symbolizing Nelson's 48 years—and 48 naval pensioners from Greenwich. In St. Paul's, other crew members from Nelson's ship drew sympathetic attention, proudly bearing banners shredded by French gunfire. As the choir sang I Am the Rouser and the Life, the coffin was borne in from the west entrance on the shoulders of 12 admirals. Nelson was buried in style under the enormous dome of the cathedral, in front of the high altar, an ingenious piece of invisible machinery enabling the bier to sink down into the vault with slow dignity. The minute the body was laid in the tomb, guns fired and the infantry drawn up outside gave three rifle volleys in salute. Captain King—at Arms—proclaimed the dead hero's titles, the head of Nelson's household ceremonially broke his staff of office and London's great day of homage was over.

Many Negroes Still Wait Selma Right-To-Vote Test

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—A special 12-day voter registration term ends today with many Negroes still waiting to take a literacy test.

The three-member board has been in session three days in each of the last four weeks, but next Monday it will return to the regular two-day-a-month schedule. Only a few Negroes tried to register in the first two weeks of the special term, but since the massive civil rights campaign led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. got under way nine days ago, prospective voters have marched to the courthouse by the hundreds.

Only about 40 Negroes, some of them standing in line for hours, have managed to take the lengthy literacy test. The board has not said if any of them have been registered.

TROOPERS STAND BY State troopers brought in Tuesday remained in Selma overnight but only on a standby basis. City and county officers patrolled the area around the courthouse Tuesday without calling on the troopers for help. Sheriff James Clark and his deputies arrested more than 200 Negroes last week when they refused to use the courthouse door designated by county authorities.

A federal court injunction last Saturday prohibited sheriff's officers from further interference, and since then the campaign has moved along with less difficulty.

However, U.S. marshals enforcing the court order have allowed no more than 100 applicants to wait in line at one time.

Thirty-four Negroes who reached the courthouse Tuesday after the allotted number had taken their places in the line were arrested when they refused to move on.

BRIEF BOLSTERED VERNON (CP)—More material has been added to a city brief arguing that the North Okanagan "questionably" is the logical spot for a proposed Okanagan regional college. It is to be submitted to researchers studying site, size of college and the courses it will offer.

OFFICE EXPANSION Britain's foreign office, built a century ago to house 100 officials and now coping with 2,000, is to be replaced.

BRITONS LOVE U.S. THE BEST LONDON (Reuters)—The British public regards the United States as Britain's best friend. The Daily Telegraph reports. Australia and Canada rank second and third. The findings were determined by a Gallup poll of representative cross section of Britons, who were asked: "Which country do you regard as Britain's best friend?" Replies in percentages were: The United States, 56; Australia, 13; Canada, 8. Other European countries accounted for seven per cent and other British Commonwealth nations for two per cent. Another one per cent voted for African or Asian countries, and 13 per cent voted "don't know."

Tshombe To Visit Belgium On Jan. 28

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe will visit Brussels Jan. 28 as guest of the Belgian government, the foreign ministry announced Tuesday.

TERMS SETTLED NANAIMO (CP)—Civic properties and recreation committee of Nanaimo has come to terms with its employees for a new contract including provisions allowing employees to refuse to cross legal picket lines.
